Baby Vanishes From Indiana Hospital, 3-State Search On

Father Broadcasts Baby's Formula, Asks It Be Unharmed

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Oct. 15 —(AP)— A new-born boy vanished mysteriously from his crib in St. Anthony's Hospital Saturday and his grief-stricken parents pleaded that he be unharmed.

The infant, Lawrence James Lyons, was born by caesarian section last Tuesday to Mrs. Frances Lyons, 37.

His disappearance touched off a widespread search by police of Indiana, Illinois and Michigan. In Michigan City, police carried on a grim search of garbage cans and sewers and questioned countless persons. But they said they still were virtually without clues.

Meanwhile, the child's bewildered father, James, a 37-year-old service station operator, and the pain-wracked mother hoped their plea to "take good care of our baby and bring him back" would be heeded.

They discounted the possibility that the Lyons baby was taken by someone who just wanted a baby —any baby. The boy was in a row of cribs with others on both sides in the nursery.

Nurse's Aid Questioned

Police said a nurses' aid, Marlene Lubs, told them someone asked her "which baby was the Lyons baby." That was less than two hours before another nurses' aid noticed the empty crib.

"It looks like whoever did this wanted that baby," Police Chief Arthur Menke said.

Miss Lubs couldn't give any clues to the identity of the inquirer.

"I didn't even look around," she said. "I was so busy, I just pointed to the baby. I don't even remember if it was a man or woman."

Kidnaping for ransom seemed unlikely. Lyons said he has no money and no enemies.

Choking up so that he could hardly talk, Lyons went on radio station WIMS to describe the baby's formula and plead, "I'd like to say please take good care of our baby."

"Don't harm him, and return him to the hospital, police station or to our home at 616 Wabash," Lyons begged.

Formula Broadcast

"His formula is six parts of evaporated milk, 12 parts boiled water and one tablespoon Cartose. In two days this should be changed to seven parts of evaporated milk, 14 parts water and two tablespoons Cartose.

"I just brought my wife home from the hospital. She said she felt like she was going home from a funeral. What was to have been our happiest day, when we took the baby home, has turned out to be our saddest."

Mrs. Lyons would have been kept in the hospital several days longer because of her operation, but doctors sent her home yesterday. The other mothers in her ward had their babies brought to them regularly, and she just couldn't stand it.

Lyons has one other child, Dorothy, 19, by a previous marriage.

Kidnaping Similar To Theft of Baby Here 6 Years Ago

The kidnaping of a five-day-old baby boy from a hospital in Michigan City, Ind., parallels a similar case in Marion when a six-day-old baby girl was stolen from the nursery of the Marion City Hospital, July 8, 1945.

The child, Jean Eileen Creviston, was found shortly after, and the kidnaper, Mrs. Phyllis Ann Webster, 30, was taken into custody by Marion police on July 10. The baby was the daughter of Mrs. Helen Mezger Creviston, and T-Sgt. Jack Creviston. The father, now deceased, was stationed at Lockbourne Army Air Base at Columbus. At the time of the kid-

CHEST CAMPAIGN OPENS TUESDAY

Allies, Reds Schedule Another Meeting

Liaison Officers Make No Progress in Talks

MUNSAN, KOREA, Oct. 15—(AP)—Allied and Red liaison officers wrangled for three hours in Panmunjom today but got nowhere in their efforts to get the stalled cease-fire talks started again.

Only hopeful sign noted was an agreement to meet again tomorrow at 10 a. m. (8 p. m. Monday, E.S.T.).

An official U.N. summary said the Reds continued to insist on a five-mile neutral zone around Kaesong, former site of negotiations. The Allies want the five miles reduced to 3,000 yards—less than two miles.

This, and a Red demand that security arrangements be settled by the main delegations rather than by liaison officers, appeared to be the main stumbling blocks in getting truce sessions underway again.

Admit Strafing

One potential threat to the resumption of talks apparently was removed with the Allied admission that three U.N. warplanes strafed the Kaesong-Panmunjom area late Friday afternoon.

Unofficial Communist sources indicated the Reds consider the incident closed.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway Sunday night accepted U.N. responsibility and promised prompt disciplinary action. The supreme Allied commander also expressed his "heartfelt grief" at the death of a 12-year old Korean boy and the wounding of the boy's two-year-old brother in the attacks.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, an official U.N. spokesman, said Monday's liaison meeting ended on an "inconclusive note."

Nuckols said no new proposals were submitted by either side. It was the longest single liaison meeting since the Reds broke off negotiations Aug. 23.

He said the Allies rejected the Communist proposal on security areas because it did not retain a provision for reducing the size of the Kaesong zone.

The Red proposal was submitted Friday and re-submitted

Truck Runs Into Train Near Depot

Driver Seriously Hurt, Train Car Derailed In Route 30 Accident

A train car was derailed and the highway covered with ice cream mix this morning at 2:55 when a milk truck ran into a New York Central train which was moving north across Route 30-S on a spur track at the Marion Engineer Depot.

Marion A. Lehman, 37, of near Orrville was driving the truck, owned by the Orrville Milk Co., to Dayton with a load of ice cream mix in 10-gallon containers. The truck was demolished and the mix spilled over the road.

Lehman was severely injured and was taken by an Engineer Depot ambulance to Marion City Hospital, where he is being treated for multiple rib fractures, a compound fracture of the right elbow, and cuts and bruises of the entire body. His condition this morning was reported as "fair."

The road was blocked for about an hour while the derailed train car was removed. The highway was cleaned off by the fire department from the Engineer Depot and a crew from the highway department.

H. I. Poland, 54, of near Crestline was engineer of the train.

Another accident occurred at the scene at 6:40 a.m. when a car driven by James Hawkins, 29, of 246 Jefferson street ran into the rear of a car driven by Walter T. Leas, 62, of near Caledonia, patrolmen reported. They were traveling west.

Mrs. Mary Leas suffered a sprained neck. Considerable damage to the front of the Hawkins car and the rear of the Leas car was reported.

Truman Takes Off For Wake Forest Talk

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—(AP)—President Truman took off at 10:20 a.m. (E.S.T.) today for Winston Salem, N. C., to deliver a foreign policy address.

Mr. Truman flew in a Military Air Transport Service Constellation. His own private plane, "The Independence," was laid up temporarily by a short circuit in a magneto.

Mr. Truman is speaking at ground breaking ceremonies for the new multi-million dollar Wake Forest college.

Allies Drive Deeper Into North Korea

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA, Oct. 15—(AP)—Red resistance faded on two blazing fronts today as Allied infantrymen drove deeper into North Korea.

On the eastern front United Nations troops captured a strategic 4,500-foot peak and kicked lightly defending Chinese off at least four hilltops.

On the central front three Allied divisions stabbed nearly two miles closer to Kumsong, vital Red supply and headquarters city about 30 miles north of parallel 38.

Fire Hits Bar, Restaurant In Crestline

CRESTLINE, Oct. 15 — Damage estimated at $20,000 was reported today after an ealy morning blaze gutted the interior of Hummy's Snack Shack here and a bar next door.

The damage was estimated by Fire Chief Rueben Saum.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, was discovered shortly after 3:30 this morning by a truck driver traveling through Crestline on Route 30. He told firemen he saw a blaze at the rear of the building and turned in the alarm.

The two-room building was gutted by the flames. Contents of the restaurant and the adjacent bar were destroyed. The buildings, located on East Main street, was owned by Frederick Kline of Mansfield, a member of the U. S. Armed Forces. Since June, it has been leased by Arthur and Anna Gilleland of Lima.

The Crestline Fire Department battled the blaze for nearly three hours before bringing it under control.

Policemen Get Their Man In Cops and Robbers Chase

An old-fashioned cops and robbers chase took place in Marion Saturday afternoon, with the strong arm of the law the victor.

A Detroit man, George Edward Bridwell, 25, walked into H. O. Crawbaugh hardware store at 113 North Main street, picked up two paint brushes valued at $13, put them into a paper sack which he carried, and then attempted to get a refund on them as returned merchandise, police reported.

Bridwell was seen as he took the two brushes and police were called when he attempted to get a refund.

As police officers walked in the front door Bridwell ran, with the officers close on his heels. He ran through traffic, around buildings, in and out of restaurants and stores. He was finally captured in an alley near Court street and taken to jail.

He is being held today by police for further investigation. He will be brought into court tomorrow, police said.

Four policemen took part in the 15-minute chase, which began about 2 p. m.

Expected By Time Congress Adjourns

G.O.P. Leaders Await Taft Decision To Run

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—(AP)—Ohio Republicans here are predicting flatly Senator Robert A. Taft's hat will be in the presidential ring by the time Congress adjourns.

Indications have been mounting that the announcement—long-expected—may be at hand.

Some of the straws in the wind:

A key group of Wisconsin Republicans offered Taft their support if he would enter that state's presidential preference primary next April 1.

The Ohio State Republican central and executive committee formally urged the state's senior senator to make a bid for the G.O.P. presidential nomination in '52.

Ohio Republican House members got out a joint statement calling on Taft to announce his candidacy.

Two of his long-time political supporters—David S. Ingalls of Cleveland and Ben F. Tate of Cincinnati—gave Taft a report last week on their country-wide survey of Republican sentiment. They told him he is "the overwhelming and obvious choice" for the party's presidential nomination next year.

Taft has said on more than one occasion since his impressive re-election victory last fall that he would not refuse the presidential nomination, if a majority of the Republicans "make it clear they went me."

Stage Seems Set

With the arrival of the Ingalls-Tate report based on a survey of 38 states, it would seem that the stage is now set for Taft's announcement.

The senator himself said he wants to study the data in that report and that he hopes to make his decision in "a reasonable time."

At least one Republican, who has been closely connected with past Taft campaigns, said Taft's mind was made up a long time before the Ingalls-Tate report was made.

Few Republicans here have doubted Taft would be an active candidate for his party's presidential nomination in 1952. He tried twice before—in 1940 and 1948—and failed both times.

When Taft's announcement does come, says his supporters, it will be a signal for the opening of a "vigorous" campaign for delegates to the G.O.P. convention in Chicago next summer.

Actually, Taft has been making a large number of speaking appearances around the country for quite some time. Some here say this rigorous speech-making schedule looks an awful lot like he's campaigning already.

Talk of "Council"

There is some talk of a "council" being formed to help mastermind Taft's race. Mentioned as possible members are House majority leader Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, former majority leader Charles Halleck of Indiana, and Representatives Clarence J.

(Turn to TAFT, Page 9)

Taft Calls Conference

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today scheduled a news conference for 11 a. m. (EST) tomorrow at his Senate office.

Signs point to a probable formal announcement then of his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

Taft's office issued only a one-sentence announcement of the news conference, but the senator indicated last week that he was about ready to make known a decision on the presidential race.

MISSING PAIR FOUND

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15—(AP)—The Coast Guard announced that a missing machinist and his daughter were found late this morning in their boat. They were alive, the guard said. The pair—Walter J. McNeal, 29, and Jean McNeal, four—had been missing in Lake Erie for 18 hours.

4 Die, 6 Others Feared Dead In Mine Blast

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 15—(AP)—Four men were known to have been killed in a coal mine explosion near here today and little hope was held for six others still underground.

Rescue teams had recovered the body of section boss Joe Slavensky from the scene of the gas explosion in the Trotter Coal Company's Bunker Mine, five miles north of here.

Company president James N Trotter said at 10:30 a. m. that rescue workers had informed him by telephone from underground that they had located three more bodies.

Trotter said that in his opinion there was little chance the remaining six would be found alive

Hurricane Warnings Go Up in Miami

Caribbean Blow Could Put Damper On Legion Parade

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 15—(AP)—A small but "extremely dangerous" hurricane neared Cuba today as warning flags fluttered along the lower southern coast of Florida.

From Miami, site of the American Legion's 33rd national convention opening today, southward through the keys to the western Bahamas an alert has been posted. Hurricane precautions were ordered in western Cuba, especially in the Havana, Matanzas and Santa Clara provinces.

At 5 a.m. today the Weather Bureau reported the storm was centered about 120 miles south southwest of Havana and 330 miles south southwest of Miami. The hurricane, with strongest winds near the center of about 80 miles per hour and with gales extending outward 40 to 50 miles, continues to move northward at about five miles per hour.

The national observatory in Havana said the hurricane "appears to be headed for Cuba," and that Matanzas province, which borders Havana province on the east, probably would be hardest hit.

Miami was crowded with some

O.S.U. Trustees Meet Amid "Gag" Rule Storm

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 15—(AP)—Ohio State University's board of trustees, beset by many requests to rescind its controversial campus speech-control rule, met today at the Wooster Agricultural Experiment Station.

There was no official word in advance of the meeting that any further consideration would be given the rule. But there was a strong assumption that new consideration of the rule would be one of the top items on the board's agenda. A storm of protest from responsible organizations and individuals has gathered over the trustees' heads ever since the rule

Flying Over Panamian Coast

Galion Man Feared Dead After Plane Disappears

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 15—Dwight M. Kersch, a 43-year-old Galion man, was presumed dead today after a 12-day search for the plane he was piloting over the jungles and coast of Panama.

The light plane, a Piper Clipper, was reported overdue from a flight to remote section of Darien, where Balboa first saw the Pacific.

His wife, the former Aliene Arndt of Galion, and two small children, John Dwight, one-year-old, and Karen Aliene, two-months-old, arrived in Galion Friday from the Canal Zone.

Marcos Gelabert, director of civil aviation, said Kersh must be presumed dead after search parties reported that an Indian woman had found fabric from the wing of a Piper Clipper washed up on the beach along the coast Kersh flew over.

Kersh, manager of the Paraiso Commissary in the Canal Zone, had passage booked for Oct. 6 for an Ohio vacation for himself, his wife and their two children.

He had flown for four years and held a commercial pilot's license and owned his own light plane. He flew at times for a domestic airline whish serves remote areas with light aircraft. He was lost on such a trip.

Kersh took off in the company's Piper Clipper the morning of Oct. 1 for La Palma. He landed on the beach and picked up two passengers for the return flight of 1½ hours to Panama City.

Squalls were hitting the coast line when the plane left La Palma.

Mrs. Kersh was met at Cleveland Municipal Airport, Friday, by her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dukeman. She was accompanied by a government representative as far as Miami, Fla., after she had been advised to re-

Plan Kickoff Breakfast And Parade

Service Club Men To Participate In Downtown Drive

The 1952 Community Chest Red Feather drive will open tomorrow with a kick-off breakfast at 8 a.m. at the Y.M.C.A.

Dates for the campaign which will seek to raise $97,764 this year, are Oct. 16 through Oct. 25.

Approximately 200 persons including the executive committee, publicity committee, representatives of all Red Feather Agencies and many volunteer workers, will gather at the "Y" for a "Dutch treat" breakfast. Charles D. Harmon, executive committeeman will preside.

The first large-scale solicitation will take place immediately after the meeting—solicitation of the downtown stores.

Representatives of Lions, Kiwanis, Rotary, Y Men's and Exchange Clubs—125 in all—will gather in front of the "Y" at about 9 a.m. and march through the downtown district, led by the Harding High School Band and escorted by Marion police.

The parade will also include members of the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts and representatives of the Marion Fire Department.

The parade will move from the Y.M.C.A. to Center street, and, down Center street to Hotel Harding where the taems soliciting the business section will go into action.

Division Leaders

Division leaders of this solicitation are Jackson Taft and David Isaly.

Advance notice of the program, known as Businessmen's Red Feather Day, was sent to all downtown businessmen asking them to complete their own solicitation of employes by 9:30 a.m. tomorrow. The committee plans to contact all downtown business by 12 noon tomorrow.

The goal for this year represents a 24 percent increase over last year. The main increase is attributed to a new Red Feather Agency, the Family Service Society, which will be set up early in 1952 to help families and individuals with experienced and trained advice on marital problems, child behavior, budget matters, and other matters pertaining to harmonious family and community living.

Fresh Air Fund

In addition, an enlarged Fresh Air Fund, which has been set aside to send 150 children to camp next summer, accounts in part for the 24 percent increase. A bigger share of the U.S.O. fund and higher operating costs of all agencies have made Marion's 1952 goal one of the largest in the history of the Chest.

Other Red Feather Agencies participating in the Chest are the Y.M.C.A., Club Co-Ed, Y-Teens, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and the Emergency Hospitalization Fund administered by the King's Daughters.

This year's drive is being directed by J. B. Bray, chairman of last year's drive and an executive committee consisting of Paul Felder, Forest Loudenslager and Charles Harmon.

All workers and chest contributors are invited to attend the breakfast. Reservations should be phoned immediately to the Y.M.C.A.

1st Report Meeting

The first report meeting is scheduled for Friday noon at the Y.M.C.A. Leaders and workers will meet at 12 o'clock for luncheon and to report on the drive. A second report meeting is scheduled for 12 o'clock, Tuesday, Oct. 23, and the victory dinner will be held Thursday, Oct. 25, at 6 p.m.

All meetings will be held at the Y.M.C.A. and meals will be "dutch."

Four ships of the United States Lines were reported affected immediately. A union official said the men were dissatisfied with a new agreement between East Coast longshoremen and shipping companies.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Liver Damage and Diabetes

As we acquire more tools for investigation and research, we often find that many diseases are not as simple as we once thought them.

Today, for instance, we are making great strides forward in our study of the liver and its functions. As a result of these studies, many observers are beginning to believe that the liver may play a role in diabetes, or, at least, that liver disease often accompanies and complicates the diabetes.

Some recent workers have gone so far as to advance the opinion that some type of liver damage may be responsible for increased sugar in the blood and urine of older people who develop diabetes, rather than a lack of insulin which is usually responsible for this disorder.

Since the liver aids so greatly in the use of starchy foods, it can readily been seen that damage to the liver may cause an increase in the amount of sugar in the blood and urine.

A group of patients suffering from diabetes was studied, and liver function tests were carried out. In those showing a lowered liver function or evidence of liver disease, treatment was started which consisted of a diet low in calories, but containing enough food to maintain weight.

Since there is considerable evidence that fat may be detrimental in liver disease it should be limited. A high protein diet is advisable, that is, it should contain such foods as meat, skimmed milk and eggs.

Along with this diet, vitamin preparations containing substances helpful in liver diseases, were given to the patients three times a day. These preparations contained substances such as choline, methionine, inositol and liver extract. It was found that in all six cases tried with this form of treatment, there was favorable response, with the liver tests becoming normal, thus indicating improvement of the liver damage.

Since only a small group of patients was tested for liver difficulty accompanying the diabetes, it would seem advisable for all diabetics to be tested to ascertain whether or not liver difficulty exists. It is probable that at least some cases of liver disease in diabetics are overlooked.

Incidentally, it is now believed that arteriosclerosis and hardening of the arteries in diabetics may at least partly also be caused by diet difficulties, and that the same low fat diet, with the use of vitamin preparations as mentioned, might prove fairly effective against early arteriosclerosis in young diabetics.

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct 15—Then new addition of Galion City hosp tal, completed at an approximate cost of $225,000, will be dedica ed Wednesday with a special program and open house

City Hospital with its new add tion now has 73 beds available for use by the public

The public is invited Wednesday when open house will be held from 2 to 5 p m, and from 7 to 9 p m For the dedication in the afternoon, Miss Veronica Kelley, past president of the Galion Business and Professional Women ens Club, will be mistress of ceremonies, and invocation will be given by Rev Philip E Auer, pastor of Peace Lutheran church Addresses will be given by Mayor Jay F Nickols Paul Q Peterson, chief of the Bureau of Local Services, State Department of Health, and professor at Ohio State university, George Fishback, State Department of Health, Division of Hospital Facilities and Dr O R Kackley, chief of staff of Galion City hospital

The dedication program was planned by Edna M Smith, past president of the Galion Business and Professional Women s club chairman of the committee which also included M D Bonsteel, past president of the Galion Rotary club and Terry Drake, representative to the state legislature

The new addition is 40x90 feet built of buff colored brick with limestone entrance Construction under Carl D Weithman, general contractor, began Sept. 1950, and was completed in July, this year It has been in use since August Harry T. Roderick of Columbus was architect.

There are 8 private, seven semi-private, and two three-bed wards, making a total of 17 new patient rooms or 28 beds altogether in the new wing By transforming the old lobby and clerk's room in the main hospital building into a children's ward with eight beds the old hospital building has 45 beds This makes a total of 73 beds in the entire plant, plus 16 bassinets

Funds for the new addition were derived from two bond issues voted by Galion citizens, one for $100,000, and the other for $75,000, Federal aid of $52 000, was granted for the new wing

All rooms in the new addition have hot and cold running water, and an oxygen system installed in the basement makes oxygen available for all of the new rooms Payment for this system, and a new auto-clave for sterilization, has been made possible from funds left over from the old Good Samaritan hospital These contributions have totaled about $22 000

The new kitchen in the addition is four times as large as the old one, while the new heating system of two gas furnaces can be connected to the old system This makes it possible to use the two heating systems separately or together.

In operating the Galion City hospital, A P. Kilburn is superintendent. The hospital commission board is composed of Mayor Jay F. Nickols as president, Miss Doris Sickmiller, clerk, G M Badgley, Dr Martn Horowitz H L Plack and Dr O R Kackley

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

CLEVELAND

NEWS ON THE atomic front is that the American Communists are gathering in their tiny undercover cells, spinning strategy for their newest propaganda campaign — their quasi-military "Operation Huddle."

Objective of this tactic is to convince skilled war workers that any effort by our national security forces to disperse new, key defense plants in a line 10 or 20 miles distant from each other, out of areas such as this lakeside city, would mean lower wages, fewer jobs, less money and higher rents.

Victor Riesel

By stirring labor opposition to dispersed war plants, the comrades of the cells hope to keep our factories huddled in cities such as this crowded one so that, in the event of war, the Soviet air force could really powder all vital plants with just the 20 or 30 atomic bombs in their stockpile.

Directing the drive to make us "sitting ducks" for enemy attacks will be the pro-Soviet unions whose leaders hope to launch a new labor federation, or at least to formally band together under a single high command..

• • •

BUT OUR dispersal program is getting under way right now — under a network of "Dispersal Task Forces" operating in this sector and 14 others, reaching from New York to the cities in the San Francisco Bay area.

These are community groups which have begun to move swiftly since we detected the second Soviet atomic bomb test explosion. There are also pioneer dispersal task forces in Philadelphia, Birmingham, Minneapolis, Los Angeles, Detroit, St. Louis, Seattle and four upstate New York cities.

It must be made clear that their job is not to dismantle any plants, nor move to establish factories far beyond any city lines. It's their task to chart all new plants in locations which are so distant from each other that no one atom bomb can knock out two targets at once—but so closely must these new constructions be spaced that they will be in the same marketing, transportation, banking and customer area.

• • •

IN OTHER WORDS, the government isn't asking anyone to pick up his plant and build it out on the vast plains running alongside our western railroads. Nor is it seeking to disrupt families and retail trade. What it wants is enough mileage between two jet factories, for example, to make it prohibitively costly to the atom-bomb parched Soviets to knock out any one line of production.

Within three or four weeks the National Security Resources Board will call top management and labor leaders together in Washington for a progress report. The program no longer seeks support —it is rolling with full backing from the A.F.L. and C.I.O.

Not too long ago, A.F.L. president William Green quietly dispatched a letter to the Federation's 800 central labor councils, saying in part, it can now be reported:

"The fact that the Soviet Union now has produced at least a small stockpile of atomic bombs makes it necessary for this country to develop a national policy regarding the dispersion of the nation's industrial facilities.

• • •

"WE ALL KNOW that the destructive power of an atom bomb is far greater than any other type of bomb previously manufactured. For this reason, a program for the dispersion of industrial facilities is more necessary now than ever before. . .

"Let me point out that the new policy is based on the following four points: The program is designed to disperse new and expanding industry — not to move established industry. No region of the country is to be built up at the expense of another. Industrial dispersion can be carried out if such deployment is confined to each local marketing area.

"State and local governments, in cooperation with private enterprise, are called upon to take the initiative in this defense objective.

"I hope that the A.F.L. representatives in your community will take an active part in any program or discussions concerning this new policy of dispersion."

Within a few days the C.I.O. chiefs will follow with a similar letter — delayed only because most of them have been away from Washington on union business. This note, too, will point out that it is no one's intention to force working people to go into isolated southwestern or mountainous regions to earn a living.

So beware the vermillion hysteria spreaders. They just want to keep you huddled for the big Red blow—if it ever comes.

Man Nobody Knows

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THE average American takes the weather and his daily newspaper for granted.

Both play a big role in his life, but he isn't particularly interested in how they come about

He accepts the access to the truth that a free press gives him as a natural right—like breathing. He is only dimly aware of an ever-present danger: that if governments succeed in any way in gagging or blindfolding his free press his right to know what is going on will then be at the mercy of seeing-eye politicians.

Hal Boyle

He will be told only what the politicians want him to believe. That is the kind of Alice-in-Wonderland world Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin created, where fact becomes fancy and fancy becomes fact—and truth is a bitter legend.

Newsmen aren't ordinarily given to bugling their calling. They like it and let it go at that. I'd like to tell you something about a guy more important to you than you know or care--the telegraph editor of your own newspaper.

HOLLYWOOD HAS MADE the public aware of two stock caricatures in our craft—the cigar-chewing, rough-barking managing editor, and the brash, hard-drinking star reporter who gallops into the office shouting, "Tear open the front page, chief, I got the story."

But, so far as I know, no movie ever made a hero of the telegraph editor. Nobody ever built a monument to him. No grateful reader ever left him a million dollars, or even shook him by the hand and said, "Gee, you did a swell job today." As a matter of fact the average reader probably thinks a telegraph editor is somebody who counts the telegrams for Western Union

Well, what does he do? Who is he?

• • •

HE IS THE MAN through whom the American people get their ideas about the world beyond their own home town, and what is going on in that world. He picks from the mass of news that pours across his desk all day the significant items you ought to have to understand the world you live in. That's pretty vital to you.

What kind of man is this, who has the earth for a front yard?

Often he is a guy who never left his own state but can tell you the inside politics of Iran or the latest market quotation on a Hong Kong dollar. He usually has a hobby — growing roses, studying the lift of Napoleon, or dreaming about how nice it would be to live on the island of Bali. I knew one who was trying to read the Encyclopedia Britannica all the way through. But he quit at Volume Ten after he got married.

The occupational diseases of the telegraph editor are ulcers, nearsightedness from years of reading copy, an expanding paunch from sitting in a chair too long, and a dismal conviction that people really don't care about anything that happens more than three doors from their own home. His favorite vice? Betting on horseraces.

• • •

HIS GREATEST EXERCISE is a daily battle with the city editor. There is only so much space in a newspaper. The city editor wants to fill it with hometown news. The telegraph editor naturally wants to fill it with national and international news Neither will ever be happy until somebody invents rubber type and rubber paper.

That's my pinup-boy-of-the week—the telegraph editor. Some dull day, dear reader, drop into your favorite newspaper, ask for him and just say, "Thanks."

But don't be surprised if he drops down dead If there is one thing a telegraph editor isn't used to—it's gratitude.

One Quick Handshake

By Inez Robb

WASHINGTON, D. C.

MANY ARE called, but few are chosen. And the few can rejoice in the fact today. The 2,000 persons selected to shake the hand of Princess Elizabeth at the British embassy on Nov should have received their invites in the morning's mail.

But congressmen and diplomats, labor leaders and admirals, no matter how vivid their personalities, can scarcely hope to scrape up a lasting friendship with the heiress presumptive to the British throne and her husband at the reception to be given by the British embassy when the Princess visits Washington.

The reception is to begin at 3:30 and end at 5:30, and royalty has a formidable way of running on schedule. This means that each of the 2,000 guests will be allotted approximately 10 seconds in which to shake the royal hand and bend the regal ear. The race is definitely to the swift.

Furthermore, at some time in the two-hour reception, the whistle will be blown and there will be a seventh inning stretch to allow Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to have tea, without which even British royalty quickly runs down in the late afternoon and has to be rewound.

• • •

AMERICANS, MIND you, will have to stay the course on nothing but French champagne, which is deemed plenty good enough for us by the British embassy. If any American wants tea on this great occasion, he will have to walk three blocks due east, knock at the nearest blind pig and say the British embassy sent him.

Because Lady Franks, wife of Sir Oliver Franks, the British ambassador, says there simply will not be room in the embassy for 2,000 guests, plus 2,000 individual tea pots, teacups and saucers, sugars-and-creamers, bowls and all the other ritualistic paraphernalia of British tea.

The Americans will have to hide their disappointment at the absence of tea and make out with champagne and fruit juices. Least Americans drool too, too frightfully at the sight of the Princess and her consort having tea, it will be smuggled into them in a small room just across from the mirror-and-marble ballroom where the receiving line will stand.

• • •

THE LITTLE room, bare of everything except small chairs and matching table, is now the children's dining room where Sir Oliver and Lady Franks' two daughters, Carolinee, 12, and Alison, 9, have their tea and crumpets. This room is adorned with one of two pairs of most unpretentious pictures of Princess Elizabeth's parents, George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

The portraits in the children's dining room are black-and-white photographs of oil portraits of their majesties in their coronation robes.

Small cabinet photographs of the king and queen, in matching silver frames, set on a small table in the embassy drawing room. These photographs of their majesties are in sharp contrast to the huge, larger-than-life, oil paintings of the princess's ancestors. These will gaze regally out of their gold frames at the young woman as she climbs the beautiful staircase of the embassy.

• • •

GEORGE III AND his Charlotte, Edward VII and his Alexandria, and George V and his Mary preside over the state staircase.

"We are just rehanging George III," Lady Franks murmured the other day as she showed the press over the embassy.

"How appropriate" murmured one of the newsmen.

Lady Franks also confided that all the royal portraits in oil had received a face-lifting in honor of the princess's visit. Each face was literally washed.

M. Rene Girault, the French chef of the embassy, estimates it will take him and his assistants a week to turn out the cakes, pastries and canapes to go with the fruit punch and champagne.

"Will you create any new delicacy in honor of the princess," he was asked.

"Ah, no," said M. Girault regretfully, "living is so dear it is hard to create anything new."

The climate of the Azores varies fro 45 to 86 degrees.

Both sides have agreed to establish a 3,000-yard zone around Munsan, the Allied advance base, and a 1,000-yard zone around Panmunjom.

Nuckols reported there were lesser questions facing the liaison officers but he told newsmen, "if agreement is reached that both sides have a 3,005-yard security zone, then I think the liaison officers would be well on their way" toward resumption of full-dress talks.

Lesser Question

One of the lesser questions appeared to be the problem of partisans operating within the neutral zone.

The U.N. summary said the Reds "refused to recognize the possibility that partisans, acting independently, could operate in their zone without instructions from the United Nations command.

"Thus," the spmmary continued, "any acts committed against the Communists within any agreed-upon security area would, from their viewpoint, automatically be a violation by United Nations command forces."

Last August a Chinese platoon commander was killed and a Chinese soldier wounded in the Kaesong neutral zone. The Reds blamed South Korean forces under U. N. command.

Antique Autos Visit Marion In Annual Tour

A 1904 curved-dash Oldsmobile was the oldest of 14 antique cars in the annual fall caravan which came to the Hotel Harding Saturday night for a dinner-meeting of the Ohio Region of the Antique Automobile Club of America. The 1904 auto was owned by N. O. Geisinger of New Philadelphia.

About 30 members of the Ohio region from Upper Sandusky, Bucyrus, Mt. Vernon, Ravenna, Sugar Creek, Chesterland, New Philadelphia, Copley and Loram met at Mt. Vernon Saturday noon, then drove to Marion for a business meeting and dinner at the hotel.

Earl Richardson of Ravenna, director of the Ohio region, presided. Charles Jackson of Mt. Vernon showed colored slides of the Ghidden tour of 1951, in which 123 cars from all over the country toured Pennsylvania.

The caravan left Sunday morning for a recreation center near Mansfield, then disbanded. Charles Jackson was in charge of the 1951 region tour.

For 42 years Lyle Prideaux, Adrian, Minn., rural mail carrier, has made his rounds, traveling 540,000 miles on horses, three motorcycles, four model T's and 14 Chevrolets in succession.

It's Your Community Chest

STARTING tomorrow, residents of Marion County will be given their annual opportunity and privilege of sharing in their most important civic and welfare program—the services performed by agencies of the Community Chest

A large corps of volunteer solicitors will endeavor to reach every home and business place in the county during the campaign. These public-spirited workers are giving their time in addition to their own contributions of money and this unselfish service on their part will inspire all others in the community to respond with prompt and generous gifts.

The Community Chest campaign serves a double purpose. Not only does it provide the funds needed to carry on vitally important welfare, health and character-building activities throughout the year, but it also acts as a stimulus to the heart and spirit of the community which is good for all its citizens and organizations. That is especially true if the campaign attains its goal in the funds required and thus stirs the community with pride and the uplift which always result from victory achieved in a worthy cause.

Victory it will be in Marion County's annual campaign, for never has the community been more unified and prosperous than this year and never was there a more meritorious and essential group of services listed for the funds to be distributed.

A notable addition to the list is the Family Service Society, which will perform one of the finest and most valuable functions that could be provided for the community. Its activities will be broad and varied, but will center primarily on promoting and maintaining happy and wholesome home life in the city and county, in salvaging family circles when danger of disruption threatens.

The chief beneficiaries will be the children who suffer most from broken homes and who too often become charges on the community, either as dependents or delinquents.

The Family Service Society will be an innovation in Marion County but the idea is by no means new and untried. Similar agencies have been functioning in a great many communities throughout the country, large and small, and all have achieved outstanding results. It is on the basis of this experience that the program has been adopted for Marion County.

The good to be accomplished through the Family Service Society would be well worth the entire total of the funds sought for this year's Marion County Community Chest. But its budget allotment is only a small fraction of the total. Included also are 10 other agencies, all well-known and of proven value through past years. Foremost are recreation and character-building services for young people, funds for the needy and ailing, and for men and women in the military services.

It is indeed a most comprehensive list of human services, all doing good for this community, which of course means you and all other residents of the county. It is your community, it is your Community Chest. Your contribution is needed.

If It Happens Here

WHEN Sinclair Lewis wrote "It Can't Happen Here," he had a premonition that if America ever did spawn a dictatorship the methods would be as typically American as apple pie and hard cider.

In one memorable scene, the "truth" is being whipped out of a victim of terrorism with steel casting rods, instead of with whips. It was an inspired bit of symbolism.

"It Can't Happen Here" was published more than 15 years ago, and America is still unterrorized. But there continues to be the same need for vigilance as there was in the early thirties. And there continues to be a need for awareness that if freedom falters it will probably have stumbled over something as commonplace as a hub cap or a wastebasket.

It could stumble over ignorance, too. There is an example of that danger in recent events. When President Truman was asked whether or not he thought his executive order to repress information about national security might be abused by government employes, he said he would have to wait and find out.

He had been advised previously by a committee of newspapermen that such an order would most certainly be abused. He spurned that advice. No sooner had his order been issued than it was abused by the Office of Price Stabilization. That did not change his mind. It is a safe bet that nothing will change his mind. Mr. Truman takes pride in being stubborn.

The whole incident of Mr. Truman's executive order has been in one way or another the consequence of ignorance about the way the press, radio and television obtain information and make it available to the public. The ignorance has been in the mind of Mr. Truman. There is not the slightest question of his intention to do the right thing in respect to national security, but there is room for the widest and deepest questions of his knowledge.

The Greater Sin

By Raymond Moley

Internal Revenue Scandals Overshadow Others

IT MAY WELL BE THAT THE most serious indictment of the Truman regime will not come from the spectacular investigations of Fulbright, Kefauver and McCarren, but from the investigation of federal tax collectors energized so far by Senator John J. Williams of Delaware.

Williams is not one of the more prominent Republican senators. He is not brilliant or showy, but slow, earnest and deeply concerned with the problem of integrity in government. He comes from a small town in what used to be called contemptuously in Delaware, "the sands of Sussex." He left high school at 18 to enter the grain business. If any senator knows what will stir the so-called "common man" of America, it is Williams. And of all the moral failures of this administration, this internal revenue mess is most likely to move voters to action.

MOLEY

For a very considerable time, sub-committees of both House and Senate have been investigating charges of Internal Revenue irregularities made by the Kefauver committee. Last May, Senator Williams in a long speech in the Senate gave detailed information about the strange, and, if true, very wrongful activities of James P. Finnegan, who until his resignation was collector of internal revenue has added new facts and charges concerning other internal revenue irregularities. Meanwhile, the House committee has kept up its investigation.

* * *

NOW WE learn from testimony more information about the Finnegan affair. Secretary of the Treasury Snyder says that he asked for Finnegan's resignation in August 1950. He apparently repeated this request over a period of several months without success. Finally, when Finnegan did resign in April 1951, Williams wrote to Snyder urging him to give the reasons for the resignation and to state what the secretary proposed doing about conditions in the St. Louis office. Snyder replied that Finnegan's resignation was purely voluntary and that there was nothing wrong in the St. Louis office.

Thus, Secretary Snyder had a lapse of memory either in April or in October. Perhaps he has forgotten what he wrote in April.

Moreover, if he was able to say in April that nothing was wrong in St. Louis, he certainly was woefully ignorant of what many people knew more than a year ago. And if nothing was wrong in St. Louis, why has Snyder laid down a whole series of rules of conduct for collectors?

* * *

SNYDER'S CONFUSION is almost as deplorable as the failure of President Truman and his secretary, Matt Connelly, to back up Snyder's effort to oust Finnegan.

This unfolding picture of income-tax fixing is the most serious moral failure yet. I cannot recall that there has ever before been a serious charge of that nature since the adoption of the income-tax amendment nearly 40 years ago. None came to light under the suspicious and honest Morgenthau. This is something new, and something very bad indeed.

How can the government expect millions of people to submit honest tax returns if they know that the people who get them may be dishonest? Nothing could do more to encourage cheating, just when the government needs more and more money.

Moreover, these revelations will stir the resentment of people far more than the irregularities in the RFC. They will hit them directly in their own pocketbooks. It is bad enough, the average man will say, to be called upon to pay more and more taxes. But to respond to this call when people favored by politicians are escaping their own taxes is too much indeed.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

DEAR NEPHEW: I sure would like to be around and about when it finally dawns on everybody who hasn't yet seen the light that the great issue of this century is between uniformists and individualists.

And when it dawns on everybody that this isn't an argument forced on us by a crowd of European jut-jaws and whip-wielders but something that has been with us as long as recorded history—that will be the day! Then we'll get somewhere.

In men's personal experience it is as old and familiar as the rule that everybody in the family had to follow the letter of the law as laid down by the head of the house. That rule came to be challenged by the members of a generation which had put a premium on personal dignity and individual differences.

But it is still enforced in some parts of this country, and it is the basis of the dictatorships which keep breaking out in the old world like measles. Millions of Europeans have known nothing else. Nor have millions of Asiatics. Dctators to them are only enlargements of their own fathers, who always have had the right to tell them when to come and go and live and die.

When you give a human being the power to enforce conformity, you can be darned sure he will use it. No matter where he is, he will try to use it whether he lives in a dictatorship or somewhere else. We have people right here at home who would like to play dictator—we always have had. The old world doesn't have a patent on that idea.

Nor as far as that is concerned does the new world have a patent on the idea that the way to get rid of dictators is to give them so much disobedience to worry about they finally cannot keep track of all of it and overplay their hand. But it is easier to resist dictatorship here than it is some place where no one ever has known anything else.

There is a great urge on people everywhere to achieve uniformity. You see it a dozen times a day. Mothers and fathers have to stifle the impulse to try to make their children all act the same way. Uniformity is a trap which is set for us in every direction we go, and it takes fancy footwork to keep from getting caught in it.

I am confident in my own mind that we have the ability and the desire to resist the ambitions of foreign dictators. I wish I could be as confident that we have the same ability and desire to resist our own dictatorial people who itch to make us think alike, talk alike and even look alike. More than that, I wish I could be confident that we'll know what these people are up to in time to throw a monkey wrench into the gears.

Your aunt and I have been enjoying fall, which takes as little effort as anything I can think of, next to enjoying spring. We have a basement full of coal, a supply cellar full of canned and pickled sustenance, a freezer full of assorted vegetables and our heads full of high hopes for making the most of winter when it finally comes.

Give our regards to the family and thanks for the little box you sent the other day. Its contents were deeply appreciated and will continue to be appreciated as long as I can light cigars

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Tavern keeping was a thriving business in the early days of Marion County. The first tavern was kept by Eber Baker and was said to be an aristocratic house where practically all the judges and lawyers "put up." The rates in early days were 6¼ cents for lodging, 12½ cents for feeding a horse and 18¾ cents for a dinner.

The Pupil's Alibi

Britain and Iran, Egypt, China

By George E. Sokolsky

THE REJECTION of the British by Iran and Egypt is not unrelated to the position the British have adopted toward China. A political and economic empire can only maintain itself by proud might. When an empire even gives an appearance of fear and cowardice, the peripheral areas will rebel; allies will look to their own interests; subject nations will bare their teeth.

SOKOLSKY

The British empire was created by force and trade penetration. It consisted not only of colonies, seized, occupied and governed, but of contractual relationships with physically weak and economically backward countries. In Iran, the British once enjoyed a sphere of influence as did Russia. That had been reduced to an economic contract concerning the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, which has now been altered by nationalization.

Great Britain's relationship to Egypt is complex. The most ancient country, Egypt had, from 1517 to 1882, been within the Turkish empire. In the latter year, because of internal disturbances, the British sent troops there to protect the Suez Canal, which had been opened in 1869, but it was not until 1914 that a British protectorate was declared, to last until February 28, 1922.

* * *

AS THE SUEZ CANAL has been so important to the existence of the British Empire, it has been British policy to maintain a general overlordship over Egypt. The condominium agreements of 1899 gave the British management of the canal. Since 1936, the Egyptians have been demanding a revision of these agreements.

The Sudan is a large area in Africa which was gradually coming under Egyptian rule until 1883 when the Mahdi revolted. His movement was eventually suppressed by the British, who thenceforth governed the Sudan.

Since 1936, the Egyptians have been seeking to drive the British out, actually starting negotiations to that end in 1945. Had British policy been firm in China and Iran, the Egyptians would not have dared to assume their present attitude. As British policy in China has been one of constant retreat, and as Iran has so far suffered no really disastrous effects from a unilateral cancellation of the Anglo-Iranian oil concessions, Egypt is encouraged to risk Britain's anger. Unfortunately, the United States is included in that anger.

* * *

IN THE UNITED Nations, Egypt has insisted that the troops of one nation have no right to be on the territory of another nation except by invitation. As British troops guard the Suez Canal and are in the Sudan by treaty, Egypt, to maintain her attitude, now seeks to abrogate the treaty.

Both Great Britain and the United States have had ample warning of dissatisfaction and trouble in Egypt and the Sudan. Unfortunately, the American policy is geared to support Great Britain in all countries where British interests had prevailed prior to World War II. This policy, however, brings us in conflict with countries whoch seek to free themselves from contractual relations with Great Britain. The Egyptian foreign minister, Salah El Din Pasha, made Egypt's position clear last July when he said

". . . The most important point in any Anglo-Egyptian talks is that Egypt will not stand on their side at any time so long as they insist on occupying our territory and on separating the Sudan from Egypt."

* * *

EGYPT HAS BEEN placing restrictions upon the movements of shipping and goods in the Suez Canal, an issue now before the Security Council of the United Nations. Egypt's participation in Arab wars against Israel raises the question of her right as a belligerent in the control of the Suez Canal, which is in her territory.

The crux of the problem is that Egypt stands on her soverign rights as an independent state. Great Britain cannot enforce her will on any country; the United Nations cannot enforce its decisions. Therefore, such countries as Soviet China, Iran and Egypt violate treaties, contracts and international law without fear of reprisal.

The burden of maintaining the power and authority of both Great Britain and the United Nations therefore falls upon the United States, which has never been an imperialistic country and has never recognized the right of one people to control the affairs of another. From the Declaration of Independence to the Atlantic Charter, this country has insisted that every people has a right to a government of its own choice. If foreign troops are stationed in a country, except by the invitation of that country, do the people have free choice? And can the United States afford to be Britain's muscle-man?

Pioneer Suffragette

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON

MRS. ADELAIDE JOHNSON, sculptor of the famed statue of Susan B. Anthony and other suffragette leaders, in the crypt of the Capitol building, has just observed her 105th birthday anniversary.

Said to be the only survivor of the pioneer suffragettes, the whispy but energetic and sharp-witted little woman was presented with 100 orchids and eulogized in a ceremony near her work, "The Women."

The ceremony was sponsored by a group calling itself the "Friendly Service," which has taken upon itself the duty to serve as chief ward for the penniless and aged champion of women's rights. Her friend, Mrs Meta Grace Keebler, with whom she now lives, organized the group.

Rep. Wickersham (D-Okla) is sponsoring a bill to get a congressional appropriation of some $25,000 to help maintain Mrs. Johnson.

"I have never given my age to the public," she had said in 1948. "I can if I want to, but I won't." This year she changed her mind and proudly broke with tradition.

About 12 years ago Mrs. Johnson made front page news when she broke or marred many of the works of sculpture on which she had spent much of her life. About to be evicted from her studio home, she said she did this rather than have the works put in storage. Her home was saved temporarily by the intervention of the late Rep. Sol Bloom (D-N Y).

"People did not understand Mrs. Johnson's motives in what she did," Mrs. Keebler said in expressing the hope that the public would forget the incident. "It was Mrs. Johnson's desolate cry against the fact that she had worked and done so much for humanity and humanity was allowing her to be forgotten and evicted from her home."

The statues of Miss Anthony, Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton were purchased some years ago by the National Woman's Party. They were presented to the government after what Mrs. Johnson termed "much wrangling, because those men didn't want a statue of suffrage leaders in the Capitol."

"Those men," Mrs. Johnson added, "just don't want any women—marble or real—up there puttering around.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Pastor in the Dark

("The Rev. John Urich, a blind minister, has been chosen pastor of Grace and St. Paul's Lutheran Church, New York. His wife, who assists him in the parish work, is also blind. 'Bonnie,' a Seeing-Eye dog, is their guide."—News item.)

I

My eyes are good, I always thought;
I read the smallest line.
But now I realize this man
Has greater sight than mine.
His eyes take him to Bethany—
The crib and Babe are clear.
And Mary is quite close to him,
With shepherds kneeling near.

II

A congregation sits and stares
Through eyes considered keen;
It thinks it misses nothing, yet
Grasps little of the scene
Which opens to this minister,
Beholding, plain as day,
The bright star in the eastern sky
That lit the wise men's way.

III

It sees the symbols and the forms;
He sees what all men should;
I see the figures, but he sees
Them in the flesh and blood;
I see the cross and outstretched arms,
The image of despair . . .
In darkness he can see the Christ
And feel his anguish there!

IV

I see the things a sculptor carves,
The things an artist paints;
His Seeing-Eye dog at his side,
He walks among the saints;
This dog and man stroll wondrous paths
Beyond most people's hopes;
They find the only road that counts . . .
I am the one who gropes!

V

"For some strange reason," he declares,
"My dog whines while I pray." . . .
There is no strangeness there; I think
A dog knows what you say;
Yes, Bonnie senses what you see
And knows just what you do . . .
He's talking, somehow, some way, with
The Man you're talking to.

YE GOTHAM BUGLE AND BANNER

The Government has brought a suit under anti-trust laws to test whether sports promoters can withhold telecasts. "If a sport sells tickets it is offering a commodity to which the public is entitled," says the attorney general's office. Okay, but why isn't it also true of the theater and couldn't the public demand a television view of "South Pacific"?

Dizzy Dean did a world series commercial for a tire company in which he gave a demonstration of a tube that sealed the hole after he jabbed it with a icepick. "Get yourself an icepick, go down to your dealer right away and tell him Old Diz sent you to jab one of them tubes full of holes so you can see for yourself," urged Dizzy, and we understand something of a panic is on in tire stores. Not because a test isn't welcomed, but because a salesroom full of folks anxious to stab holes with icepicks can have its complications.

Ohio Wesleyan To Dedicate New Building

Memorial Union Ceremony Part Of Homecoming Plans

DELAWARE, Oct. 15—The outstanding event of Ohio Wesleyan University's annual homecoming next Saturday, Oct. 20, will be the dedication of the new $350,000 Memorial Union at 10:30 a.m. in the ballroom.

Located across from the main campus, the three-floor concrete building of modern design will serve as a place for "recreation and dining, and for extra-curricular, religious and social activities, and as a center for alumni activities."

It has been built as a living memorial to the 853 "sons and daughters" of Ohio Wesleyan who served in World War I, the 2,628 who served in World War II, those serving in Korea and especially to the 18 who lost their lives in the first war, the 92 who were killed in the second and the 4 who died in Korea.

Gold Star Parents Invited

Gold Star parents and wives have received special invitations from President Arthur S. Flemming to be honored guests at the dedication service.

The main speaker will be a representative of the men and women to whom the memorial is being dedicated. He is Alan H. Newcomb, of Greenville, S.C., a 1942 graduate and a hero of World War II.

A bomber pilot, Newcomb was shot down over the Ruhr Valley in 1944 and was a prisoner of the Nazis until the end of the war. Later he told of his prison-camp experiences in his popular book, "Vacation With Pay."

Bishop To Lead Service

Bishop Hazen G. Werner, bishop of the Ohio Area of the Methodist Church, will lead the service and President Arthur S. Flemming will preside at the dedication.

James Havighurst, president of the alumni body, will present the building to the trustees, and formal acceptance will be made by Harvey O. Yoder, president of the board of trustees.

Music will be provided by the choir under the direction of Prof. Rexford Keller. The Command Squadron of Ohio Wesleyan's Air Force ROTC will serve as an honor guard throughout the ceremony.

Ban School Fraternities At Delaware

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Oct. 15 — The Delaware City School Board Friday adopted a resolution banning secret groups and societies at Willis High School.

The seven-point resolution was adopted unanimously by board members at a public meeting held Friday noon. It forbids Willis High School students to form or join secret societies at the school.

The board acted after D. R. Smith, city school superintendent, tendered his resignation to the board last week because he was opposed to the fraternities and sororities. The board refused the resignation and adopted the seven-point plan in support of Mr. Smith.

Student members of three groups, one boys' society and two girls' groups, announced they would disband after a meeting with the school principal Thursday.

TREE MALADIES

When a diseased tree is removed, it should be destroyed immediately by burning. The same applies to affected branches which are removed. The healthy trees must be protected.

Failure to remove and completely destroy the breeding places multiplies the danger from Dutch elm disease, oak and maple welts, heart rot and fire blight, among numerous others. These cost the country millions of dollars in lost landscape assets annually.

The pathologist urges home owners in every city, town and village to support public measures to assure maximum speed and efficiency of disposing and burning of insect and disease ravaged trees.

Danger of spreading the Dutch elm disease is so great that all elm pruning residue, whether infected or not, should be destroyed by burning The same applies to fallen leaves this autumn, particularly if they are spotted, lumpy or riddled with holes. These are the danger signs that such scourges as black spot of elm, cherry leaf spot or leaf falls may be present.

Taft

Brown and George H. Bender of Ohio.

Brown managed Taft's unsuccessful try in 1948. Bender is the Republican chairman in Cuyahoga County.

Bender, it will be recalled, started a "Taft for President" campaign last winter in his monthly publication, the "National Republican." It coincided with the Republican party's Lincoln Day rally here.

Ingalls and Tate also are expected to be part of the Taft high command. Ingalls is a former assistant Secretary of the Navy and a cousin of Taft. Tate was treasurer of Taft's 1950 drive for re-election to the Senate.

Plans Changed

Many here expected Taft to withhold his announcement until early next year. In fact, Ingalls and Tate were quoted in late August as saying they hoped to complete their pulse-taking survey by Jan. 1, 1952.

Taft supporters deny the schedule was speeded up because of the threat that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower might steal a march on the Ohioan.

They contend that Eisenhower's stock has been dropping steadily. They say Eisenhower is no threat to Taft, because the general's support, they contend, does not come from the party's grassroots.

Some of Eisenhower's more vocal backers include Republican senator James Duff of Pennsylvania and former senator Harry Darby of Kansas.

New York's Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey—twice loser as G. O. P. standard-bearer — also is in Eisenhower's corner.

If the purr of a great-powered engine is music to your ears—

If command of two tons and more of nimble-footed and beautifully balanced automobile can step up your pulse beat—

You are just the man for whom a ROADMASTER was engineered.

Whatever it takes to give you a sense of complete and carefree freedom behind its wheel, you'll find in this proud master of the highways.

Added to the breadth and length that any fine car can give you are four soft-action coil springs to cushion the wheels, and a torque-tube to banish rear-wheel wander.

Added to its high-compression, valve-in-head engine are eight exclusive Fireball combustion chambers that get extra power from each whirling charge of fuel.

Added to the convenience of clutch-free driving is the torque-converter principle of Dynaflow Drive—that feeds a steady flow of power without lag or falter ever.

Added to the light responsiveness of its steering wheel is a Buick-engineered "front-end geometry" that gives this phenomenal performer a sense of direction straight and true.

But no roll call of engineering accomplishments can tell you the feel of a ROADMASTER out on the road.

Veterans and Draftees Guide —

—By— Major Thomas M. Nial

Used to be that a fellow could be pretty sure of having his draft classification reopened just about any time he asked his board to do it—unless, of course, he already had received his order to report for induction.

Under the new draft regulations, it isn't so certain.

In the first place, a request that your classification be reconsidered now must be placed before your board within 10 days after you are classified. If your request is granted, you will be given a date for a personal appearance.

The second important point in connection with reclassification is that your board is not now required to reopen your case after hearing you. It need do so only if, in its opinion, you offer information justifying a change of classification.

Selective service has issued a statement explaining "local boards customarily permit registrants to appear at any time to discuss their cases, but could not continue this practice if required to reopen on every occasion."

* * *

OF COURSE, if your board refuses to reclassify you, you still have a right to appeal to your state appeal board within the 10-day "appeal period"—and perhaps even to the president of the United States.

You don't appeal directly to your state board. You write a letter of your local board, saying you want to appeal. The local board then sends your letter, together with your file, to the state board.

Your letter to your local board must contain these three things: your name, your local board number, your selective service number.

There are no personal appearances before state boards, so be sure your file contains everything that might be needed to prove your case — photostatic copies of birth certificates, discharge papers, all that kind of stuff. It's your responsibility to see that those things are in your file. You'll have no kick-back if it turns out they aren't.

* * *

TWO OTHER amendments are pretty important to a lot of men. You've read about them before, but I want to emphasize them.

One of these amendments makes deferred men subject to draft until they are 35 years old. That is, if you're deferred, the age of 26 doesn't mean much to you any more. If the reason for your deferment ceases to exist, you still can be drafted up to 35.

Say you now have an occupational deferment because men of your occupation are in short supply right now. In a couple of years that shortage may be overcome. You'll still be in the same job, but it won't be a critical job any more. Your board may reclassify you 1-A unless you have some other reason for deferment, such as dependents.

The other important amendment is one dealing with unborn children you may wish to claim as dependents.

* * *

AS IT USED TO BE, an unborn child is ground for deferment, all right, but now you must give your board a doctor's certificate that a child is on its way.

The selective service headquarters statement says "the purpose of this amendment is to prevent last-minute claims for dependency based only on the registrant's opinion that his wife has recently become pregnant."

This doctor's certificate must be filed with your board before the date you are ordered for induction.

Forced To Ask Higher Prices, Steel Reports

CLEVELAND, Oct 15—(UP)—Steel magazine said today that cost increases, plus a probable wage increase of "considerably more than four cents an hour," are going to force steel manufacturers to ask higher prices for their products.

Since last January's price freeze, the magazine said, costs have risen sharply, but have been absorbed by the industry. Steelworkers are expected to open negotiations for new contracts by December.

"Trade authorities," Steel said, "claim another increase cannot possibly be absorbed and must be offset by a price increase, if granted."

In spite of continued high production, steel makers last week still did not face a rosy future, Steel said. Besides impending cost increases, the supply outlook was not reassuring. The government directives ordering cancelation of duplicate orders and withholding from further deliveries previous unshipped allotments have not cleared the situation yet, Steel said.

In most products, mills were booked solidly into next year, and some were accepting orders for the second quarter of 1952.

Operational shutdowns through wear, combined with an impending shortage of scrap, threaten to cut into winter production, the magazine said. In some areas, as in Youngstown, O., last week, sporadic labor disputes affected output.

Following the parade, the companies from the West Center street and East Mark street stations returned to duty, and the Central station engine companies and aerial truck went to the Central Junior High School grounds, where they put on a hose and ladder demonstration at 3 p.m.

What dollars go back to Main Street twice?

Life Insurance dollars—invested in every town—will return again as payments on policies

Until you need them as family money, your life insurance dollars are used as investment money—safely put to work to earn what they can for policyholders, and so reduce the cost of your protection.

The farm, the factory, the store, railroads, power companies, homes, local and Federal government activities—all benefit from dollars you provide through your life insurance. In fact, from coast to coast these life insurance dollars provide capital every Main Street needs to grow and prosper.

And then when these dollars are paid to you or your family, they come back to Main Street once again—as family money used to buy food and clothing, to pay for rent and schooling, and help meet many another need.

America's 83 million policyholders, in providing for their families and themselves through life insurance, are also making America a better place to work in and to live in. And their healthy habit of thrift is one of the nation's strongest bulwarks against inflation.

Gabrielson Declares He's Not Resigning

G.O.P. Chairman Says He Won't Step Down as Boyle Did

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—(AP)—The resignation of William M. Boyle, Jr., as chairman of the Democratic national committee isn't going to be followed by that of his Republican counterpart, G.O.P. chairman Guy G. Gabrielson says.

Boyle announced his resignation Saturday night, giving health as his reason, and indicated he would issue shortly—perhaps today—a call for the Democratic national committee to act on it.

Gabrielson, who like Boyle has been under attack from some quarters in Congress, was emphatic in saying he does not intend to step down.

"I'm not resigning," he told reporters in Seattle. "I'm not going to resign. Is that plain enough? . . . I'm not resigning. You can put that in just as big letters as you want."

Both Asked To Quit

Congressional critics, mostly Republicans, have been calling on both men to quit their party posts because of their relations with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, big government lending agency.

Both have been under investigation by a Senate subcommittee, one of whose members, Senator Nixon (R-Calif), said last night the inquiry will continue. He added: "The disclosures of the future will make those which have come out to date seem insignificant in comparison."

Boyle had used a statement by Nixon—although he did not name the senator—to support his reiterated contention that "I have at all times conducted myself with honor and propriety." He noted that a Republican member of the committee had said the inquiry record showed "no evidence of illegality or moral turpitude" on Boyle's part. The words were Nixon's.

Writes Letter To Truman

Boyle's resignation came in the form of a letter to President Truman. As head of the party Mr. Truman bears the burden of selecting Boyle's successor.

Among those mentioned most prominently as possibilities were John L. Sullivan, former Secretary of the Navy, and Francis J. Myers, former senator from Pennsylvania who was defeated last year. Both now practice law here.

Court Ruling Allows Union Co. School Merger

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE — Judge R. LeRoy Allen of Union County Common Pleas Court, has ruled that a remonstrance filed with the county board of education against consolidation of four districts in the county into the Northwestern school district was insufficient in valid signatures and the new district is legal.

The decision merges York, Taylor, Peoria Special and Liberty districts. Grade schools are to be operated at York Center, Broadway and Raymond and all high school students are to attend school at Raymond. The decision lifted a temporary injunction granted a group of York district citizens who claimed there were sufficient signatures on the protest.

Population of the Azores is about 500,000.

Taft Slated for Major Talk Tonight at Detroit

DETROIT, Oct. 15 —(AP)— Michigan Republicans, and those elsewhere, eagerly awaited today what has been billed as "a speech of major importance" by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) at a $100-a-plate rally here tonight.

Super Bombs Unproven Yet, Lovett Warns

MIAMI, FLA., Oct. 15—(AP)—Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett gravely warned the nation today the United States does not yet have the fantastic atomic weapons which can win a quick, easy or magic victory in war.

In his first public address since becoming defense chief, Lovett told the American Legion convention:

"The plain fact is that, until new weapons and new military applications of atomic energy have proved their reliability and are available for field use, our national safety in the face of attack will have to depend upon improved orthodox weapons in ample quantity and with sufficient trained and equipped ground, naval and air forces to use them effectively."

Courthouse Flagpole Painted By One-Armed Veteran of War

The flagpole at the west side of the county courthouse was dressed up today. And the paint job was done by a one-armed painter.

Ben Mattox, a one-armed veteran of World War II, painted the pole from top to bottom in less than three hours after being awarded the job by county commissioners today.

The job was completed at a cost of $12 to the county, Commissioner Carl Lehner reported. Mr. Mattox offered to do the job and furnish all materials for that amount. Since last week marked National Employ the Physically Handicapped week and commissioners were unable to take part in the observance, they awarded the paint job to Mr. Mattox.

Mr. Mattox, currently visiting relatives in the Marion area, lost his right arm while serving with the Army in World War II. Since overcoming his physical handicap he has painted flagpoles in all parts of the country.

The 50-foot pole at the courthouse was a small job in his opinion. At various times during his career he has painted poles at heights ranging to 100 feet, including several poles atop buildings.

Mossadegh Goes Before U.N. Council

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 — (AP) — Iran's aging premier, in high spirits after a week's rest and physical check-up, goes before the Security Council today to tell the U.N. why he thinks it should stay out of the Iranian-British oil muddle.

The U.N. alerted an ambulance for quick duty in the event the premier, Mohammed Mossadegh, runs true to Tehran form and faints at the end of a short, extemporaneous speech he is to make to the council. He has written a 40-page document to be read for him by his ambassador to the U.N., Ali Gholi Ardalan.

The council meeting was called for 3 p.m. (E.S.T.) at Flushing Meadows, in a small room with no seats for the public. The meeting was to be televised.

3 Arrested After Fight at Marion Bus Station

Three Detroit men were arrested at 2 a.m. Sunday and charged with disorderly conduct following a fight at the Greyhound Bus station on North Main street.

Two of the men were captured by police on foot after a short race. The third was arrested at the station.

They were traveling together and became involved in a discussion about money. Heated words and then blows followed and police were called to the bus station. They were arraigned in Municipal Court today.

Sherman Morris, 26, and Otis Cleveland, 29, both pleaded not guilty and had a hearing set for Oct. 19. Robert Smith, 22, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs. All three of the men were lodged in Marion County jail. Morris and Cleveland were unable to post a $75 bond.

Egypt Seen Rejecting Defense Pact

CAIRO, Oct. 15—(AP)—Egypt moved rapidly today toward rejection of a western proposal to replace British troops defending the Suez Canal with an international force.

Sources close to the government said Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha would ask parliament tonight to approve Egypt's "no" to the West's plan for joining the Nile kingdom with the United States, Britain, France and Turkey in a Middle East defense alliance against communism.

Parliamentary approval, said these sources, "is virtually assured to be unanimous."

The parliamentary session tonight also is scheduled to ratify Egypt's junking of her treaties permitting British Defense of the canal and joint Anglo-British control of the million-square-mile Sudan territory. Britain has said she will not leave either area.

Informants said the cabinet last night approved rejection of the western proposal, which was handed to the Egyptians only Saturday. These same sources said a note outlining Egypt's stand would be given today to the ambassadors of the four would-be-defense pact partners.

Farmer Injured When Tractor Overturns

John E. David of near Marion suffered severe chest injuries yesterday at 6 p.m. when the tractor he was driving overturned, pinning him on the ground near his home on County Road 26, north of Marion.

He was taken to City Hospital by the Gunder ambulance where he was X-rayed. Hospital attaches reported his condition today as "good."

Admits He Beat Woman

Fined $110, Costs On Two Charges

A Marion man was fined $110 and costs in Municipal Court today when he admitted beating a woman until her face was bruised and battered almost beyond recognition, police reported today.

Martin Ellis Rice, 44, of 147½ Canby court was arrested at 12:20 a.m. today and charged with intoxication and assault and battery. Police said he became angry at a neighbor, Mrs. Goldie Baker of 147 Canby court, and beat her with his fists.

Mrs. Baker was taken to the Marion City Hospital in a Gunder ambulance. She was treated and released.

Rice pleaded guilty to both charges today in Municipal Court. He was fined $100 and costs on the assault charge and $10 and costs on the drunk charge. He failed to pay his fines and was taken to the Marion County jail.

With Mrs. Folsom, he will leave this week for St. Louis, Mo., where they will make their home.

Mr. Folsom was presented a cowhide traveling bag and a $25 U. S. Savings Bond. He also was presented a framed tribute from P. W. Johnston, president, and M. G. McInnes, vice president, in appreciation for faithful and conscientious service to the Erie Railroad for 35 years.

The presentation was made by Robert H. Lewis, superintendent.

Two Minor Fires Occur on Weekend

Two minor fires over the weekend were reported by Fire Chief Owen Sifritt.

A leaky fuel pump allowed gasoline to drip on a hot motor, starting a fire which burned several wires in a car belonging to Clifford Harris of 848 Adams street. The fire occurred at the corner of Gebhart street and Lincoln avenue yesterday at 5:09 p.m.

Damage was estimated at $10. Firemen from the East Mark street station answered the call.

A fire started by children ignited a tree in a vacant lot on Lindberg avenue near the corner of Woodbine avenue at 11:19 p.m. Saturday.

Firemen from the West Center street station were called. No damage resulted.

5 Indicted Newsmen To Plead Today

Freedom of Press Issue in Louisiana Defamation Case

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 15—(AP) — Five Lake Charles newspapermen indicted on charges of defamation of character get their first chance to answer the accusations in a courtroom today.

The newspapermen, accused of defaming 18 public officials and three gambler-night club operators during an anti-gambling crusade, are set to appear in district court for arraignment.

They will make their pleas before Judge J. Bernard Cocke, district judge from New Orleans especially appointed by the Louisiana Supreme Court to sit as a visiting jurist.

The indicted newsmen, all with this southwest Louisiana city's only daily newspaper, the American Press, are publisher Thomas Shearman; his son, William Hugh Shearman, co-publisher; managing editor Kenneth Dixon, city editor James Norton and Carter George, police and court house reporter.

Allege Officials Defamed

A grand jury indicted them Aug. 27 for allegedly defaming the district attorney, one of his assistants, and sheriff and the parish police jury, the county governing body.

The maximum penalty for each count is a fine of $3,000 and one year imprisonment.

The indictments set off a chain reaction of national protest from dozens of newspapers, church and civic groups and a number of national political figures.

The voices of protest called the indictments an attempt to muzzle the press. The Inter-American Montevideo, Uruguay, said the Press Association meeting at indictments formed one of the year's most serious challenges to press freedom.

Gambling, wide open in this industrial city of 50,000 for more than a decade, was the center of controversy that split the population into two camps.

Opened Campaign

Managing editor Dixon, a former Associated Press war correspondent, opened a campaign calling attention to the gambling operations running with front doors open throughout the wealthy Calcasieu (Lake Charles) parish.

Dixon's campaign, fanned by the reform reaction to the Senate crime committee's highly publicized hearing in New Orleans, caused the organization of a citizens organization called the People's Action Group (PAG).

The PAG, actively suported by most of the community's ministers, gathered evidence in the guise of customers.

In the election held Friday morning, Garrett P. Trostel of New Carlisle was named new grand high priest of the Grand Chapter.

Ralph Carhart, in an election held on Wednesday, was elevated to the office of grand steward from grand marshal in the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters. Elected to head this organization as grand master was James Moore of Sandusky.

It's Foolish to BE BRAVE

When it is a question of risking your life or losing some money, there isn't much sense in "being brave." Cylinder Deadly Even After Use

ATLANTA—(UP)—An oxygen cylinder, used by hospitals and firemen to save lives, can be deadly once it is discarded.

One such cylinder had been thrown into a pile of scrap metal at a junk yard here.

Just as Linnal Dallas, 50-year-old Negro, walked by the junk yard, the cylinder exploded. The flying metal struck him on the head and killed him, then ripped through the wall of a building.

The National Geographic Society says the Australian dingo is the most dog-like of wild canines.

Union After 7th Round of Hikes

Annual Wage Battle About To Open In Steel Industry

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 15—(AP)—The wage and price pattern for next year may well be set in the upcoming tug-of-war between the union and the steel companies. Steel has been known to set such a national pattern in other years.

Steelmakers this week put the government on notice that they want the price of steel—which plays a part in the cost of countless things you buy and use—raised now. They say rising costs of their own production has made the present price of steel too low. This price increase would be before any possible hike in wages.

Union leaders have indicated clearly that they won't be satisfied with a wage increase that would fit into the government's present wage policy. This would give them four cents an hour more. When negotiations with the companies start next month, the industry expects the union to ask 15 cents an hour or more. If the union gets it, the present government wage formula would be blown apart.

And also, the steel companies—who say they deserve a steel price increase right now—are certain to want to add onto prices any further rise in costs due to higher wages.

If the price of steel goes higher, so will the cost of making autos and stoves, of building bridges and apartment houses, of making tanks and ships.

And if the wages of steel workers go above the present national pattern—and the union contends that a hike is justified because of the rise in the cost of living and adds that steel earnings are large enough to bear it—workers in other industries will quite understandably want to fall in line.

Thus will the pattern of the seventh round of wage-price hikes be set.

* * *

THE LAST RAISE in steel wages and prices was in December, 1950, when steel workers got a 16-cent-an-hour boost and prices went up an average of $5.88 a ton. With that out of the way, the government then called on the rest of the nation to hold the wage and price line.

Steel companies say that December's boost in steel prices has been swallowed up by costs. In a report to Defense Mobilizer Wilson this week, leading steel executives said: "cost increases since that time have already outstripped these price advances, as a result of increases in the cost of goods and services purchased by industry."

These costs include raw materials used, freight, coal, labor and office work. In this connection, steel spokesmen point out that the red tape of controls now require, 15 copies of a steel order, just to book, produce and bill it.

And the industry says it found out—like everyone else who tries to build something these days—that the plant expansion program is costing more than the companies first figured.

* * *

ALSO THE REPORT to Wilson reveals that some 1.6 million more tons of steel ingot capacity is now planned than has yet been announced. Present plans, the report says, will give the nation 104 million ton capacity by the first of the year and 110.6 million tons when the program is completed at an undisclosed date. The last official word on the expansion projects were that they would bring capacity to 118 million tons by 1953.

As to the earning pattern in the steel industry, the executives tell Wilson profits have been falling this year, and that anyway, "the steel industry has, over a long period of time, been far down the list of American industries in respect to its earnings in relation to invested capital."

So, taking all this into consideration, the steel executives tell Wilson: "It is highly important that the future adjustments in selling prices fully reflect all elements of cost including goods and services purchased as well as any wage and salary increases."

There it is—the prospect that the price of the basic industrial commodity steel, and the wages of the men who produce it, will go up. That is why most businessmen and most labor leaders will be watching the November bargaining sessions in the steel industry, almost as keenly as if it were their own industry, their own union.

Church Young People Rehearse for Play

Rehearsals are under way by Epworth Methodist young people for presentation of "One Foot In Heaven," drama version of the well known true story by Hartzell Spence concerning the life of a parsonage family and the congregation. The play will be presented in the new basement auditorium of Epworth Church Oct. 24 and 26. A demand is being made for reserved seats, it was stated, and reservations are available at the church office.

Besides the cast of 20, the Cherub and Chapel Choirs will appear in the production. Presentation of the play is in line with a current interdenominational emphasis on family life. As the story unfolds, it shows not only an example of good family life, but how such a family is a help to the congregation and community at large, it was stated. Practices are being held at the church nearly every night under direction of Miss Margaret Huffman.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

God Bless Us Every One

"The Kate Smith Evening Hour" struck me at the outset as being marked by a certain air of desperation. It occurs on every Wednesday at 8 p.m. EST. (NBC-TV), an hour which on NBC last year was sacred to comedians. However, NBC, I guess, just ran out of comics and somehow the full-throated and extensive Miss Smith was thrust in there to stem the flood of Arthur Godfrey who appears at the same hour on what is known as another network.

It's hard to tell what Miss Kate, one of the perennial glories of daytime or female radio, is doing on evening television when the men are home, presumably in search of relaxation. In fact this show is pretty hard for me to explain in any terms. Miss Kate is not a mistress of ceremonies, not even an Ed Sullivan or "What-On-Earth-Am-I-Doing-Here" type emcee, she's not, apart from her singing, an entertainer, she doesn't—as she does on radio—burden the air with profound reflections on the sanctity of matrimony (which she has never experienced).

John Crosby

* * *

SHE IS ABOVE all that. She is presented as a sort of American institution like Thanksgiving, something that doesn't require explanation. Ted Collins, her personal Svengali who has guided her destiny — if that's not too sweeping a word—for several generations, accords her a reverence which I found damned irritating. The confounded show even opens with a shot of waves breaking on our rock-encrusted shores, passes next to a shot of the American flag, concentrated briefly on the star-studded section of the flag and dwells finally on a single star—symbolizing, as I gather it, Miss Smith, America motherhood, and the National Broadcasting Company.

"God bless everybody in no trump," I murmured as this majestic opening faded and Miss Smith herself hove into view to sing "Vampin' Till You're Ready." It's a rather odd selection to follow such a patriotic introduction—I half expected her to sing the Constitution in C sharp minor—and Miss Smith didn't improve matters much by jigging like a kootch dancer and snapping her fingers. If Miss Kate wants to be an American institution, she ought to model herself a little more closely on the behavior of other American institutions like, say, the stone lions at the steps of the New York Public Library.

THE REST of the show is a mish-mash. Olsen and Johnson, another American institution, came aboard to deliver the sketch wherein they are in a hotel room, just trying to get a little sleep, and everybody including an NBC guided tour conspires to get in the way. I first saw Olsen and Johnson do this bit in Milwaukee in—let's see now—about 1932 and I must admit they've rounded it, improved it and polished it a lot since then. It may be the most popular sketch on television, having pretty well done the rounds of all the shows. A classic, in short, which ought to be ready in another year or so for the Library of Congress. This is a real classic show.

Three guys and two dolls followed with a song number in which they bounded about without dropping a note, an impressive but exhausting mixture of athletics and vocalism. Miss Smith reappeared to sing "Longing." This led into a big dance number in which several thousands yards of crinoline were unfurled. From time to time, Mr. Collins, dinner-jacketed and acting a little like the curator of the American wing at the Metropolitan, showed up to talk about Miss Smith. There was a brief, muddy dramatic sketch, starring Sylvia Sydney and Sidney Blackmer, which proved that crime doesn't pay. It was acted in almost total darkness without scenery.

* * *

NONE OF THIS was very bad but nothing was very good either. In any case, it didn't add up to anything that resembled a television show and I can't figure out what Miss Smith is doing there. They're trying, I speculated, to make a female Arthur Godfrey out of her. But is there any great need for a female Arthur Godfrey or, for that matter, a male Arthur Godfrey? I just don't understand the thought processes that led to the construction of this show and I'm afraid I never will.

turn to Galion until the outcome of the search was determined. The Kershes lived at Balboa, C. Z., where Mr. Kersh was assistant manager of a government commissary. He has been in the Canal Zone for about seven years.

Flying Light Plane

According to reports, here, Kersh was piloting a small plane with two passengers when the plane was reported missing, Oct. 1. A newspaper report stated that the passengers were Adam Diaz, a Darien merchant, and Enrique Alves, also of Darien. Search is being concentrated in the Bayano River area. The plane was carrying no jungle equipment, but hope was held that the men may have been given food and shelter by natives in small villages of the jungle.

Kersh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kersh of Galion. He was graduated from Galion High school in 1928 and was an outstanding athlete.

Baby

naping the mother was making her home at 807 South Prospect street.

At that time, as in the case of infant Lawrence James Lyons, the baby's feeding schedule was published in newspapers and on the air.

The Marion baby was found at a home in the western part of the city, where Mrs. Webster was living under the name of Mrs. Estel Eugene Lanman. Her hucband, Sgt. Ernest Webster, from whom she had been denied a divorce earlier in the year, was serving with the armed forces overseas.

Court proceedings brought out the fact that having lost a child in the early months of pregnancy, she kept up a ruse that she was still pregnant, and stole the baby as proof. Her husband returned from overseas and testified in her behalf at the trial the following October. She was freed following the trial in common pleas court and with her husband left the city with the intention of starting life anew.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

The tone of Dicky's voice changed completely as he asked me to "take over" the relaying of my father's instructions concerning the dinner and following entertainment he wished us to give in New Haven It was unbelievably light and gay after the grimness with which he had spoken of the problem which my father was facing

I knew that, with infallible intuition, he had realized that the nerves of his youthful listeners, with the exception of Bess Conway, my father's alluring F.B I operator, who was credited with having iron ones, were becoming too taut, and he was giving them a letdown I took his cue and gave them a gay little smile as I began to talk.

"The things I have to tell you will sound like a pleasant fairy tale after the necessarily grim talk which my husband has been giving you," I told them. "However, the first item on the list may not be so delightful to Bill and Mildred."

I turned my eyes to the stately beautiful girl sitting next to her fiance.

I gave both Bill and Mildred a mental pat on the shoulder, as they heard the unwelcome news. Not a muscle moved in either face, and no disappointment showed in their eyes, although I knew Bill had planned to go part way on Mildred's train and then transfer to one which would take him to New Haven in time for all his classes but one which he intended to cut.

"I'm not saying I like it," Bill said with a rueful smile, as I paused with the air of expecting a comment. "But I take it we are like soldiers on this assignment. We have no choice in the matter, and if we are good soldiers, we'll accept it cheerfully."

He looked at his fiancee with a tender smile, and she returned it before looking at me.

"I agree with Bill," she said "Whatever the Chief has planned for me, I shall obey his orders cheerfully."

"Thank you both," I said with emphasis, and then plunged into a detailed recital of what my father was planning I told them of the large check he had given me, with the remark that if I needed more I was to call on him, and stressed his statement that he wished our party to arouse the envy of the "college heel" and incite him to plan an even more elaborate entertainment with Bess Conway as his guest of honor.

Bess gave an exaggerated little shiver as I finished.

"Suppose I fall down," she suggested. "He may no even know I'm anywhere around"

"Now you're fishing," Dicky told her with a mischievous grin "Hank, I think it's up to you to relieve the lady's fears"

"Okay," Hank said. "But I can't do it effectively in public," he added slyly.

"Sorry!" Dicky told him. "I hate to hamper your style. But my spouse has more to tell you, and you musn't walk out on her. Go on, Madge."

"The reason my father wishes you to remain here, Mildred, is most exciting," I said. "He wants you and Bess to go with me to an exclusive dress shop to which he says Bess will guide us, and there select for ourselves the most expensive and exclusive evening outfits the shop has."

WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT TODAY'S CONFUSION—

MANY AMERICANS ARE CONFUSED ABOUT WHAT GOVERNMENT SHOULD AND SHOULD NOT DO! JUSTICE IS BEING DESTROYED BY THOSE WHO FAVOR LAWS WHICH BENEFIT ONE CITIZEN AT THE EXPENSE OF ANOTHER

IF, AT THE POINT OF A GUN, A FARMER, BUSINESS MAN OR WAGE-EARNER TOOK YOUR MONEY FOR HIS BENEFIT OR BUSINESS, IT WOULD BE STEALING. AND HE WOULD BE PUT IN JAIL FOR THE CRIME. THIS IS ILLEGAL STEALING.

AND WHEN GOVERNMENT PLANNERS FORCIBLY TAKE YOUR MONEY IN TAXES FOR THE BENEFIT OF FARMERS, BUSINESS MEN, WAGE-EARNERS AND OTHER SPECIAL GROUPS IT IS ALSO STEALING – LEGALIZED STEALING.

IN 1950, OVER 23 BILLION DOLLARS OF TAX MONEY WAS TAKEN FROM THE AMERICAN PEOPLE WHICH GOVERNMENT PLANNERS USED FOR THE BENEFIT OF SPECIAL GROUPS – FOR SUBSIDIES, LOANS, GRANTS, SPECIAL AIDS AND THE ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS OF ALL THESE SPECIAL BENEFITS.

THIS AMOUNT WAS OVER AND ABOVE THE COST OF DEFENSE AND THE REGULAR COST OF GOVERNMENT!

GOVERNMENT HAS BECOME A WEAPON OF INJUSTICE, MAKING STEALING LEGAL. IT SHOULD BE AN INSTRUMENT OF JUSTICE PROTECTING EVERY INDIVIDUAL FROM STEALING!

YOU HAVE TWO CHOICES!

YOU CAN DESTROY JUSTICE BY FAVORING LAWS WHICH ALLOW SOME PEOPLE TO LEGALLY STEAL FROM OTHERS

YOU CAN MAINTAIN JUSTICE BY FAVORING LAWS WHICH PROHIBIT ALL STEALING—LEGAL AND ILLEGAL!

JUSTICE can exist only when the people understand and insist on a moral purpose for our government. What is this purpose?

Every individual, in receiving the gift of LIFE from God, is given the responsibility of preserving, developing and perfecting that gift.

So every person is given INDIVIDUALITY – different faculties, different and various amounts of talent with which to assume the responsibility for his own existence.

Every individual is endowed by his Creator with the LIBERTY to use his God-given faculties for their intended purpose—and through the free use of those faculties to acquire PROPERTY.

Every individual also has a natural right, from God, to protect his God-given Life, Liberty and Property from the interference of any other individual – BECAUSE THESE THREE GIFTS OF GOD PRECEDE ALL MAN-MADE LAWS AND ARE SUPERIOR TO THEM.

Therefore, if we want JUSTICE, our government must protect these God-given individual rights – it must have this moral purpose –

"TO MAKE AND ENFORCE LAWS WHICH PROTECT EVERY INDIVIDUAL'S LIFE, LIBERTY AND PROPERTY FROM THE INTERFERENCE OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL – AND THESE LAWS MUST PROTECT THE PEOPLE FROM GOVERNMENT ITSELF"

When laws are passed that, by government force, take away the God-given LIBERTY and PROPERTY of some people for the special benefit of others THEN GOVERNMENT DESTROYS JUSTICE! Government becomes immoral for it interferes with the individual's gifts from God.

St. Mary Gridders Tied 19-19 By Columbus Crew

BUCKEYES AND BADGERS IN 6-6 TIE. Captain Jim Hammond (arrow) picks up five yards before being spilled by Ohio State's Fred Bruney (12) as Wisconsin moved toward a tie with the Buckeyes. Wendell Gulseth (65), Badger guard, blocks Buckeye Vic Janowicz (31) as Dick Logan (71) and Julius Wittman (67) move up on the play. A Janowicz pass in the fourth quarter evened the final score at 6-6 after the Badgers had scored in the second period. A crowd of 51,000 watched the Big Ten contest at Madison.

Irish Unable To Stop Last Half Comeback

By JOHN SHORT

St. Mary took it on the chin Saturday night at Columbus and was lucky to escape with a 19-19 tie with a not-so-strong Columbus St. Mary eleven.

After rolling to a 19-6 edge in the first half, the Irish showed a complete reversal of form after the halftime intermission. A line which had held for the first two periods, suddenly found itself being torn apart by hard-charging backs on quick openers, plunges and flashy end runs.

The backs also were hit by the slow-down ailment. Where formerly, Kilbury, Finnegan, Anderson and Co., were ripping off yardage, they found themselves stopped when they needed the yardage.

Strike Early

The Irish struck paydirt first early in the first period when Jim Kilbury hit End Pat O'Connor with a 32-yard scoring aerial. Kilbury booted the point to give the locals a 7-0 edge. Shortly before the end of the frame, Scatback Dave Carr scored when he took a pitchout from Kilbury from the 20.

The Ramblers also scored in the first period when Harry Brown dropped back to his own 15 yard stripe and hit Halfback Jim Moore with a pass at the 45. With Moore, hemmed in at midfield, he lateraled to running-mate Harry Brooker at the 45. Brooker scampered into the end zone without being touched.

Carr Shines

In the second quarter, the Irish rolled to their third tally with a 97 yard sustained drive. The TD came when Carr took another pitchout from Kilbury and danced down the sidelines for 47 yards.

The Ramblers rolled 82 yards for their second TD in the third frame. With Jim Moore sparking the drive, the Columbus eleven covered the distance in seven plays. Moore ripped off runs of 60 and five yards before going into the end zone from the nine-yard marker in a handoff over tackle. John Magaw converted to put the count at 19-13.

Penalty Hurt

With three minutes of playing time remaining, the Ramblers took over on their own 38. With Moore temporarily stopped, Irish hopes soared but a 15-yard penalty gave the Ramblers first down on the Irish 31. Harry Brown moved to the 17 and Moore plunged to the 14. With a minute and seven seconds remaining, Brown looped a pass into the end zone to Broker for the score. Magaw missed the try for the point when the entire Irish line bolted through.

Some 587 fans saw the Saturday night contest played at the North High School field. A large percentage of the fans traveled from Marion.

The Columbus School's mascot, a full-grown ram, attracted a lot of attention during the tilt. He stood nonchalantly at the end of the Columbus bench watching the stands during the gridiron action.

Al Hansen (extreme left) of Southern Methodist University sails an aerial to Benton Musslewhite (right) in the first period of Saturday's game against favored Notre Dame, setting a pattern that saw the Irish wind up on the short end of a 27 to 20 score. Ruel Resigns Tribe Farm System Post

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15—(AP)—Muddy Ruel, who resigned as head of the Cleveland Indians farm system, would neither confirm nor deny reports today that he had been offered a post with the Detroit Tigers.

Ruel—whose real name is Herold Dominic Ruel—announced his resignation officially last night, although it had been rumored for more than a week.

The former catcher said he expected "to have an announcement within the next few weeks," but added he was "not at liberty to say any more now."

Ellis Ryan, Tribe president, expressed regret over the loss of Ruel who came to Cleveland in 1948 after managing the St. Louis Browns for one season.

He started his major league career in 1915 with the Browns and later caught in the American League for New York, Boston, Washington, Detroit and Chicago.

Indiana Tilt Tops Grid Menu

Buckeye Title Hopes Dim After Wisconsin Tie

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Oct. 15—(AP)—Ohio State, its hopes of a Western Conference crown and a Rose Bowl bid dimmed a bit by Saturday's 6-6 tie with rugged Wisconsin, meets Indiana's Hoosiers this week in the feature of a 23-game grid slate for Buckeye colleges.

Eleven of the 23 contests are against out-of-state opponents. Last week the Buckeye boys won six, lost seven and tied one in interstate competition, giving them 30 victories, 19 losses and two deadlocks for the campaign, with a scoring edge of 1,104 to 652.

Only three of the state's 36 squads—Cincinnati, Dayton and Ohio U.—remain in the unbeaten and untied class after last week's series which saw Kent State, Wilmington, Wooster, Case Tech and Oberlin batted out of the "clean" division.

Cincinnati, which meets thrice-beaten Western Reserve this week, leads the pack with five victories, while the Flyers and Bobcats have four each. Xavier, Heidelberg and Muskingum are undefeated, but each has been tied. Sid Gillman's Bearcats, in addition to holding top spot in the state-wide standings, has the scoring laurels wrapped up with 179. Ohio U., which was allowed only two touchdowns, is the defensive king.

Out-Rushed

The Bucks, badly out-rushed and out-passed by Wisconsin, were "lucky to get a tie," according to Coach Woody Hayes. The Badgers had 19 first downs to Ohio's seven, outrushed the Bucks 74 yards to 61, and had a 346 to 160 advantage through the air with Quarterback Johnny Coatta completing 17 of 27 passes.

The Indiana fray looks easier, however, the Hoosiers having been whipped 33-14 by Michigan's not-too-potent Wolvermes Saturday.

This week's games are:

Friday night: Xavier at Louisville.

Saturday: Indiana at Ohio State, Western Reserve at Cincinnati (n), Ohio U. at Miami, Ohio Northern at Bluffton (n), Findlay at Defiance, Marietta at Wittenberg, Heidelberg at Capital, Denison at Ohio Wesleyan, Muskingum at Wooster, Mount Union at Akron, Bowling Green at Baldwin Wallace (n), John Carroll at Cose (n), St. Francis at Youngstown (n), Marshall at Toledo (n), Chattanooga at Dayton, Wilmington at Albion, Kenyon at Hobart, Tennessee State at Central State, Ashland at Hiram, Morris Harvey at Kent, Hamilton at Oberlin, and Cedarville at Indiana Central.

Bill Miller To Grapple Here

Big Bill Miller and Jules "Speedy" LaRance will tangle in the main event of the wrestling card Thursday night at the armory.

Professor Roy Shire has been booked to meet Irish McGee in the semi-final bout, Promoter Les Fishbaugh announced today. In the 30-minute opener, Chris Belkas will be matched against Joe Scarpello. The winner of the opener will be given a shot at Joe Wolfe's title, Fishbaugh announced.

Kiner-Chaffee Wedding Seen By 1,000

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Oct. 15—(AP)—Good wishes of a wedding crowd that included sports notables accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kiner on their honeymoon to Acapulco, Mex.

Kiner, 28, home run hitting outfielder for the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Miss Nancy Chaffee, 22, sixth ranking nationally as a tennis player, were married Saturday in Trinity Episcopal Church.

More than 1,000 crowded the church and the receiving line at a reception, supposedly for 500, lasted two hours.

Hank Greenberg, Cleveland Indians general manager, was best man. Max West of the Los Angeles Angels, Kiner's partner in an Alhambra, Calif., sporting goods store, was an usher.

Attending were Vern Stephens, Boston Red Sox shortstop; Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati pitcher, Tennis Professional Jack Kramer, Sportscaster Tom Harmon and his wife, Actress Elyse Knox. Gifts came from Bing Crosby, stockholder in the Pirates, and Ginger Rogers, tennis pal of Miss Chaffe.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scott Chaffee of Ventura. Kiner is the son of Mrs. Beatrice Kiner of Alhambra. The newlyweds have a new home in Palm Springs, Calif., awaiting them.

Stranahan Takes Third Golf Title

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 15—(AP)—Former British Amateur Champion Frank Stranahan has added his third Willard Memorial Golf Tourney crown to his string.

The Toledo strong boy defeated George Bigham of Oklahoma A & M., 5 and 3, in the 36-hole finals over the tough Hardscrabble Country Club 6,740-yard layout here yesterday.

Stranahan is the only three-time winner of the Willard Memorial. He won the 1947 and 1948 tournaments and didn't compete again until this year.

Bigham, a 23-year-old senior from Kansas City, Kas., shot even par for the first nine holes but gradually wilted under Stranahan's consistent drives and green shots.

Game Labeled "Sloppy" by Coach

Browns Take To Ground To Whip Redskins, 45-0

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15—(AP)—Coach Paul Brown says his Cleveland team was guilty of "sloppy football" yesterday even if the pro football champs did wallop Washington's Redskins, 45-0.

"I knew there'd be a letdown because we were keyed up" while trimming the tough Los Angeles Rams last week, he continued, but "fortunately for us, we got a good share of the breaks."

In turning in the first shutout of the National League season, the Browns converted four Redskin fumbles into three touchdowns and a field goal.

After the opening kickoff, Washington ran off a pair of first downs, but then End Lenny Ford smacked into Redskin Quarterback Harry Gilmer who let the ball squirt out of his hands. George Young, the other Brown defensive end, grabbed the ball in the air and raced 47 yards for a touchdown.

Fumbles Hurt

Leon Heath bobbled in the third period and this time Ford pounced on it at the Washington 41. A few plays later Lou Groza booted a field goal. Still in the third quarter, Chuck Drazenovich let the ball get away from him and John Sandusky grabbed it for Cleveland on the Redskin 28. Four plays later Emerson Cole scored from the nine.

Drazenovich fumbled again in the fourth period and this time John Kissell recovered on the Redskins 24. Dopey Phelps ran the last 13 yards to that score.

Three other six-pointers came on Brown drives.

Ken Carpenter ended a 60-yard, seven-play push in the second period by plunging over from the one. Quarterback Otto Graham snuck over from the one in the third period to end a seven-play, 61-yard job; and Cliff Lewis passed 20 yards to Bob Oristaglio in the fourth session to end a 71-yard drive.

By scoring five times on the ground, the Browns abandoned the pass as their favorite method of sweating the score keepers.

In total offense, the 'Skins were relatively close, despite the lopsided score. Washington totalled 277 yards to the Browns' 376.

Defensively the champs had much the better of it. They stopped Washington pushes when they had to and once Darrell Palmer blocked a Redskin field goal attempt. Both Warren Lahr and Alex Agase intercepted passes just as the 'Skins looked like they were finally going to move.

Three Browns were injured during the game, causing Coach Brown to remark, "They gave us a good going over."

Emerson Cole—who played fullback for Marion Motley—suffered a bruised thigh while grinding out 54 yards in nine attempts to lead the ground gainers. Rex Baumgardner had a gash over his right eye, and Abe Gibron a bruised right heel.

Next Sunday the Browns meet the Pittsburgh Steelers, who got a 10-7 lead yesterday against San Francisco but then lost, 28-24. Previously Pittsburgh had lost to Green Bay, 35-33, and tied the New York Giants, 13-13.

Cleveland's win was the Browns' second in three starts. They beat Los Angeles, 38-23, and lost to San Francisco, 24-10.

Illini Given Slight Edge In Big Ten Title Fight

CHICAGO, Oct. 15—(AP)—The Big Ten football title rush is getting more like a dog chasing its tail. There is no clear-cut favorite thus far.

Probably Illinois has a slight edge in the figuring on the basis of its 14-10 victory over Wisconsin a week ago and the Badgers 6-6 tie with Ohio State Saturday.

The struggle could become so intense that the deadlock at Madison—which counts one half game won and one half game lost in the standings—may become the final factor in determining the champion when the season ends.

Three conference games this Saturday should do little in clearing the muddle unless there are upsets. Wisconsin invades Purdue and should win on the form sheet. Ohio State should defeat Indiana at Columbus. Michigan at Iowa seems like a toss-up.

The intersectional schedule sends Illinois to Washington, Nebraska to Minnesota and Navy to Northwestern.

Biggest surprise of the Big Ten weekend was Michigan's smashing 33-14 triumph over Indiana after being humiliated by Michigan State and California in non-league affairs.

The win puts the defending Champions even with Illinois, Purdue and Northwestern atop the conference standings at this early stage. Each has one victory and no defeats.

Pi Phis Win Powder Bowl Tilt

ATHENS, O., Oct. 15—(AP)—Pi Beta Phi Sorority defeated Alpha XI Delta, 12-0, in the fifth annual Powder Bowl football game at Ohio University stadium yesterday, and enriched the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund by about $1,000.

Red-haired Mary Ann (Skeets) Hills of Cleveland Heights, a 108-pound scatback, scored both touchdowns. She went 83 yards around end for a score the first time the Pi Phis had the ball, and ran 40 yards for the second touchdown after catching a pass.

The pass was thrown by Ann Hammerle of Hamilton. As team captain, Miss Hammerle, along with Ruth Jones of Cleveland, captain of the losers, came out at halftime to kiss Charles Stack of Akron, who was crowned Powder Bowl king.

About 4,000 spectators saw the touch football game. Dolores Martonchik from Lorain, was the offensive threat of the losers. She completed five out of 14 passes for 67 yards.

Joy Mahan of Dayton protected the Pi Phi lead with three punts for a total of 109 yards.

Last year the Pi Phis won 31-0. The first three Powder Bowl games were ties.

High Scores Feature Play

National Ratings Seen Hit by Saturday Results

NEW YORK, Oct 15—(AP)—Football coaches used to say that a good offense is the best defense, but that old saw doesn't seem to cut much wood in 1951 college football.

Five major college teams scored three touchdowns and still lost Saturday. Washington State even lost after scoring five times in a wild 42-35 scramble won by California. In fact, a survey of 37 major college games showed a majority of the losing teams scored at least two touchdowns. Only three of the games ended in shutouts for the losers.

When all the figures were compiled, it was hard to see who would lead the parade in the Associated Press' weekly poll of the nation's top ten teams.

M.S.C. Scored

Michigan State, ranked first last week just ahead of California, like California had a tough time in what figured to be an easy game and barely got past Marquette, 20-14 The powerful Spartans, apparently suffering a letdown from their big game with Ohio State a week previous, trailed 14-6 in the fourth period, but managed to score twice, largely due to the passing of Quarterback Al Dorow.

The No. 3 and 4 teams, Tennessee and Texas A & M, romped to easy wins, and Notre Dame, No. 5, was upset by Southern Methodist, 27-20.

Since most of the second five turned in strong wins, it's probable the standings will be greatly shuffled when all the votes are in this week.

Texas, No. 6, edged Oklahoma, 9-7, breaking a three-year Sooner streak over the Longhorns; Illinois, No. 7, toyed with Syracuse, 41-20; Georgia Tech, No 8, whipped Louisiana State, 25-7 and Maryland, No. 10, crushed Georgia, 43-7. Ohio State, No. 9, had its second disappointing Saturday in a row and was happy to come off with a 6-6 tie against Wisconsin.

Much of the high-scoring high jinks came in the intersectional games, possibly because of the difficulties colleges have scouting teams from hundreds of miles away. Alabama, like Notre Dame and Syracuse, scored three times only to lose to Villanova, 41-18, on Friday night.

Wins Glory

The southwest came off with most of the glory in the intersectional competition on victories by Southern Methodist, Texas and Rice, a 21-14 winner over Navy. The far west also scored with College of the Pacific's 21-7 beating of Clemson. But the midwest and south both had to be content with two wins and two losses. The east won two and lost four, while the Big Seven won one and lost two and the Skyline lost one.

Besides the intersectional games already mentioned, Tulane checked Holy Cross' vaunted offense to win, 20-14; Iowa walloped Pitt, 34-17; Penn State surprised Nebraska, 15-7; Kansas downed Utah, 26-7 and Miami (Fla.) upset Purdue, 7-0, in another Friday night affair.

Biggest upset of the day came late Saturday night when little Texas Tech completed a 33-19 thumping of the Southwest Conference's Texas Christian. A Southern Conference surprise was William and Mary's 7-6 win over Wake Forest, while the same circuit had expected Duke to win by more than 27-21 against North Carolina State.

Ned Garver Day Held At Defiance

5,000 Friends Welcome Mound Ace Home From Campaign

DEFIANCE, O., Oct. 15—(AP)—Just seven years ago Ned Garver was playing American Legion junior baseball with the Defiance post team.

Yesterday about 5,000 of the folks around here turned out to pay tribute to that same Ned Garver—now one of baseball's best pitchers

There was a big parade, complete with four bands and four queens. At a banquet, speaker after speaker praised the 25-year-old righthander (first pitcher in more than 20 years to win 20 games for the American League's perennial lastplacers, the St. Louis Browns

Then Garver got up to speak.

"Baseball's been a great thing for me," he said. "It's done a lot for me, and I'm thankful for that. I'm also thankful to see that the folks here are continuing their program for the youngsters."

About 300 boys who played either Legion baseball or little league (pre-Legion-age) ball were at the ceremonies. Garver awarded trophies to the winning teams and individual players and dedicated a baseball field.

The home folks presented the handsome Garver with a shotgun.

"You folks sure know I like to hunt around here in the off season," said Ned in accepting.

There also was a gift for his wife—Dorothy—a sewing machine.

Garver was born in Ney, O., about 10 miles northwest of Defiance, on Christmas Day, 1925. It's a community of 300 or so residents and Ned lives there now—on a farm he bought not too long ago.

Bands from Ney High School (Garver's alma mater), Defiance, Ayersville and Florida took part in the parade. The queens were LaDonna Cromwell of the Ney High School, Rosie Flory of Defiance High, Eulalie Pond of Defiance College and Kay Briggs, representing the Lions Club.

Riding with Garver and his wife at the head of the parade were their two youngsters—Cheryl, 2, and Donald, 7.

"It was sure swell of the folks to do this for me," said Ned. It's one of the biggest events of my life."

150 Schools Meet To Study Code of Ethics

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15—(AP)—Representatives of 150 colleges and universities are here today to discuss a tighter code of ethics aimed at preventing unfair competition for students.

C. William Reiley of Northwestern University agreed that spirited competition for athletes had made the work of admission directors difficult and embarrassing. Reiley is president of the Association of College Admissions Counselors which is studying the code.

He recalled one Indiana boy who had been signed up to go to Northwestern, then withdrew saying he wanted to go to Notre Dame and finally ended up at the University of Kentucky.

One section of the proposed code declares "it is highly desirable that scholarships be awarded only after the student has formally applied for assistance, and undesirable to enter into competitive bidding for students."

Another section says:

"Admissions counselors should be scrupulously careful to present clear and accurate information concerning their own institutions and avoid ambiguous and questionable or false information about competing institutions."

Redlegs Purchase Two Moundsmen

CINCINNATI, Oct. 15—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds have gathered in two new pitchers, but they will have to wait until the Army gets through with the services of one of them.

The Reds announced yesterday they had acquired Moe Savransky of Cleveland Heights, O., a southpaw, and Tom Acker, 21-year-old right-hander from Fair Lawn, N. J. Both came from Buffalo of the Class AAA International League in return for an undisclosed sum of money and the option of Jim Bolger, young outfielder with the Reds' Charleston farm club.

Acker, 21, was inducted last week. He will be put on the Redleg national defense list. He won 10 and lost 13 last season.

Savransky, 22, had an 11-11 record.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Gov. Warren says the 1948 Republican platform was so good he'd be willing to run on it again . . . for that matter we got candidates who would run on the platform of 1896 if they thought they could win.

* * *

Most political platforms are good enough to run on again considering they don't get much use . . . Shucks the Democrats have been in power for almost 20 years without hardly ever looking at their platforms.

* * *

They had one plank about cutting government expenses that's as fresh and new and unused today as it was in 1932.

The only thing wrong with political platforms is that they don't carry a $100,000 personal penalty for failure to use them.

* * *

If a candidate had to post bond to carry out after election the promises and platform that swept him in, either we'd have less loose talk or a nice profit in the bonding department.
